

51

Week 51 Focus: Year in Review and Looking at Your Vision by Jennifer Britton, Potentials Realized - RemotePathways.com

Focus Question: What's important to note about your work right now?

Description

This year we've taken a look at a wide variety of core topics for remote work – from delegation, to team development, feedback, to learning.

This week, and next, you will have an opportunity to take stock of where you have grown and shifted this year.

Growth doesn't always happen on a straight path, and there may be many twists and turns along the way. This week take a look at the many milestones you have moved through. What are they?

Questions to consider:

- What were the major milestones throughout your year?
- What were your growth areas?
- What were the plateaus?
- What stands out for you?

Another key element of the year has been your vision. Have you gone back to review your vision? If not, do that now. Notice:

What was your vision at the start of the year?

What major milestones did you meet or exceed?

How did your vision shift?

Even with a shift, how did it come to fruition?

You are invited to spend time creating your vision for the new year. Check it out.

Activity

Review your notes from the year, highlighting for yourself key themes, learning and accomplishment.

You may want to check out Jennifer's recent year end video at her YouTube channel – <https://www.youtube.com/EffectiveGroupCoach>

“If there are no rough patches, you may not be on the right path.”

Sampad Swain, Instamojo

Looking ahead

We are almost at the start of the new year. Have you started your planning? Consider:

- » Key focus areas for the next year:
- » My priorities are:
- » Other priorities to keep in mind are:
- » What else is important to note?